

'Sunflower' Group Working Structure

A suggested non-hierarchical corporate working structure: incorporating co-operative values and principles, and aimed at preventing both 'within-corporate' and 'outwith-corporate' anti-social and anti-ecologic violence, and achieving the group's self-identified aims and objectives.

For suggested group portfolio identities (1-8 in schematic above), task lists, corporate working values and principles. see following pages.

Sunflower Co-operative Corporates - Suggested Internal Self-governance Overview

(Based upon the Co-operative Co-working Values and Principles in the ICA Statement of the Co-operative Identity - see below)

Values and Principles

The ICA Statement of the Co-operative Identity surely forms the Vs+Ps that a link our global movement to our individual actions as co-operators.

Accordingly, one can expect corporate co-operative institutions (in this case – ‘sunflower co-ops’) to adhere to, and annually audit, these Vs+Ps.

Fractal like, the ICA Vs+Ps can form co-operative distinctiveness – – ‘sunflower co-ops’ ought therefore to produce their own Annual Co-operative Audits.

Internal Structures

If we recreate the internal structures of hierarchies, then our outputs become dualised - the individuals involved have to relate to the fact of the hierarchical structure, while also trying to fulfil the ‘sunflower co-ops’ corporate aim.

Accordingly, ‘sunflower co-ops’ might consider Sunflower Structures as their organisational models.

More-over, hierarchies exist with job-titles as marks of hierarchy.

Perhaps ‘sunflower co-ops’ might consider 'Portfolio Working' rather than 'Job Title Working'.

Finally

Use of the ICA Vs+Ps as guides to good practice and good governance must face up to two dangers:

- Cherry picking the Vs+Ps that are most amenable to our own, human ambitious natures, and, in consequence, avoiding those that are most valuable to us as co-operators.

- The danger of centralisation and hierarchy emerging unnoticed.

I'm strongly of the view, therefore, that a) terms of working be time limited, and b) with re-engagement with any work portfolio being seen as Project Based, rather than Career Based

The International Co-operative Alliance

- Statement of the Co-operative Identity (Manchester, UK 1995)

Definition:

A co-operative is an autonomous association of persons united voluntarily to meet their common economic, social, and cultural needs and aspirations through a jointly-owned and democratically-controlled enterprise.

Values:

Co-operatives are based on the values of self-help, self-responsibility, democracy, equality, equity and solidarity. In the tradition of their founders, co-operative members believe in the ethical values of honesty, openness, social responsibility and caring for others.

Principles

The co-operative principles are guidelines by which co-operatives put their values into practice.

1st Principle: Voluntary and Open Membership

Co-operatives are voluntary organisations, open to all persons able to use their services and willing to accept the responsibilities of membership, without gender, social, racial, political or religious discrimination.

2nd Principle: Democratic Member Control

Co-operatives are democratic organisations controlled by their members, who actively participate in setting their policies and making decisions. Men and women serving as elected representatives are accountable to the membership. In primary co-operatives members have equal voting rights (one member, one vote) and co-operatives at other levels are also organised in a democratic manner.

3rd Principle: Member Economic Participation

Members contribute equitably to, and democratically control, the capital of their co-operative. At least part of that capital is usually the common property of the co-operative. Members usually receive limited compensation, if any, on capital subscribed as a condition of membership. Members allocate surpluses for any or all of the following purposes: developing their co-operative, possibly by setting up reserves, part of which at least would be indivisible; benefiting members in proportion to their transactions with the co-operative; and supporting other activities approved by the membership.

4th Principle: Autonomy and Independence

Co-operatives are autonomous, self-help organisations controlled by their members. If they enter to agreements with other organisations, including governments, or raise capital from external sources, they do so on terms that ensure democratic control by their members and maintain their co-operative autonomy.

5th Principle: Education, Training and Information

Co-operatives provide education and training for their members, elected representatives, managers, and employees so they can contribute effectively to the development of their co-operatives. They inform the general public - particularly young people and opinion leaders - about the nature and benefits of co-operation.

6th Principle: Co-operation among Co-operatives

Co-operatives serve their members most effectively and strengthen the co-operative movement by working together through local, national, regional and international structures.

7th Principle: Concern for Community

Co-operatives work for the sustainable development of their communities through policies approved by their members.
